

Milk Truck Plunges Off Bridge

NOTES FROM A CITY EDITOR'S DAYBOOK — On the lighter side: Friends of a female bookkeeper we know are wondering whether to charge her with embezzlement or shout for joy as the result of a recent World Series pool.

This bookkeeper keeps the office pools rolling in systematic and accurate fashion. The world series was an elaborate one based on runs, hits, home runs and the rain-fall at Ebbetts field.

At any rate, the squares (at 50 cents a square) were all sold but four. So our little lady took a glance at the office flower fund account which, happily enough, contained $2. Then she threw in a little logic: How many flowers can one buy for two bucks? Hardly any, she concluded in quick fashion.

So the two bucks went into the office pool designated by the mysterious letters, "F.F." for flower fund. The cunning remained the awful secret of our little bookkeeper.

The series came off with the usual disruptions to world diplomacy and industrial progress. When the clamor died, the mathematicians gathered around the big pool card for the final calculations. Adding machines whirled and fingers traced themselves to the winning square.

"F.F. wins the 25 dollars!" someone announced jubilantly, and the mathematical wizards turned to the job of locating "F.F." and informing him or her of their good fortune. When the puzzlement grew, our bookkeeper confessed her secret.

As we have said, her friends are wondering if she should be complimented for her astuteness in embellishing the sagging flower fund, or...

The office force has concluded, however, that the next batch of flowers dispatched under the auspices of the office gang, should contain a card bearing these words: "With deepest sympathy from the Brooklyn Dodgers and Johnny Podres."

We think that would square everything.

237 W. Chamberlin St. Dixon, Ill. Oct. 7, 1955

"Dear C.J.C.," "I read your column daily and enjoy it very much."

"I was glad to read that Dixon's store hours are being reviewed."

"I hope they decide (and soon) to stay open Saturday night."

"I have several good reasons — and I have talked with a lot of people who feel the same way."

"I think 'we the customers' should let the store managers know how we feel about it and I have written to several of them. Why don't other people do likewise?"

"Thanks for your nice column. Mrs. Marvin H. Callow"

Dear Mrs. Callow: Thanks for your kind and frank comments. Customer reaction is a vital and precious thing — or it should be — to merchants everywhere. Whether one is a Friday or a Saturday night, a merchant would appreciate comments on the shopping hours question. Therefore your suggestion is a good one.

Sec. Benson Rejects Democrat Farm Plan

Subsidy for Idle Acres Is Rejected

Proposal Made by Senator Humphrey To Cut Production

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The administration has turned down as too costly and complex a proposal to pay farmers for voluntarily taking land out of production.

The rejection, on a proposal by Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn.), was sent to Chairman Ellender (D-La.) of the Senate Agriculture Committee some six months after Ellender asked an official report on the measure. The reply was signed by Undersecretary of Agriculture True D. Morse and made available to a reporter today.

The Humphrey plan appeared similar to those the Eisenhower administration has been reported considering for bolstering farm prices hurt by overproduction. Secretary of Agriculture Benson has said he will have some specific recommendations to make to Congress next year.

Urges Pork Buying

Meanwhile an industry advisory committee urged Benson to consider bolstering hog prices by buying limited stocks of pork for the school lunch program and for domestic relief purposes. It also recommended that he look into the possibility of broadening pork and lard exports, and that the government and industry push a campaign to encourage greater pork consumption.

Hog prices have been running about 30 per cent below last year's levels and Friday dropped on the big Chicago livestock market to their lowest level since just before wartime price controls were removed in 1946.

Benson is not expected to decide for some time yet on the industry recommendations, made at a closed session here Friday.

Called "Reserve Act," Humphrey called his proposal a "conservation reserve act of 1955" and asked that each farm be assigned an acreage "reserve" on which the farmer might refrain from growing crops. If the farmer then followed soil and water conservation practices on the "reserve" acres, he could collect up to $2,000 a year in government payments.

Morse, in rejecting the idea, said department experts doubted it would cut surplus production and that it might be regarded as "paying farmers for nonproduction."

He said the method for computing payments would be very complex and would probably cost "several hundred million dollars" a year.

Baby Whose Life Spared by Court Edict Leaves Hospital

CHICAGO — (AP) — Nine-day-old David Siems, whose life may have been saved by a court order, has been released from a hospital.

But a doctor says it's too early to tell whether the baby's brain is permanently damaged.

David was born Sept. 29 with defective blood which doctors at Oak Park Hospital said was deteriorating rapidly and might cause his death.

The child's parents, Willard H. and Darlene Mae Siems, refused to authorize a transfusion on religious grounds and the doctors went into Family Court when David was 2 days old. Judge Harold P. O'Connell ordered a transfusion, which was given immediately.

In court, Siems, a member of the Jehovah's Witness sect, quoted from the Bible (Genesis, Chapter 9, Verse 4). "But flesh with the life thereof which is the blood thereof ye shall not eat."

WEEPS BESIDE EMPTY CRIB — Mrs. Joan Wyrembek, 20, weeps hysterically beside empty crib of her baby, Terrence, 1, Oct. 6, at Los Angeles, Calif. She read a note from her husband, Walter, 25, UCLA student, saying he had left with the child. Two days ago Mrs. Wyrembek abandoned the baby in a Hollywood hotel room after phoning her husband, from whom she separated two months ago, to "come and get him."

Jury Rules Crash Deaths 'Accidental'

A Lee county coroner's jury today ruled that Mrs. Mitchell (Donna) Perkins, 23, 115 Crawford Ave., and Garrett (Junior) Fredericks, 24, 324 Central Pl., both of Dixon, were killed accidentally Oct. 1 when the car in which they were riding struck a bridge culvert.

Coroner Robert Preston reported that Mrs. Perkins died as the result of head injuries and Fredericks died as a result of head and internal injuries. Both were killed instantly.

Mitchell Perkins, 25, who was seriously injured in the mishap, testified that Fredericks was driving the car when the accident occurred and surmised that he apparently fell asleep at the wheel.

Perkins said that he was asleep in the back seat of the auto and couldn't "remember anything" about the mishap. He admitted that there had been drinking earlier that night.

Preston said there was no evidence that Fredericks was intoxicated. The car, a 1949 Buick convertible owned by Perkins, was demolished. The mishap occurred south of Dixon on Rt. 26.

Mrs. Perkins was the mother of four small children. Fredericks was a Korean War veteran but had no known occupation.

Gov. Craig Intervenes At Foundry

Will Take Personal Charge of Indiana Strike Scene Monday

NEW CASTLE, Ind. — (AP) — Gov. George N. Craig of Indiana was hurrying home from Miami today to take personal charge of the explosive Perfect Circle Corp. strike in New Castle, where the piston ring firm proposed to reopen in spite of a riot that left eight wounded.

Officers of a National Guard battalion on duty in New Castle said they would pull their troops away from the Perfect Circle foundry if it reopened as planned Monday but would remain in the vicinity.

The governor's aides professed not to know what orders Craig might bring for the heavily armed guardsmen. With martial law not declared, the Guard's authority in this city of 18,000 in east central Indiana was indefinite.

Doyle Moore, Craig's administrative assistant, said only that the governor will meet in his office Sunday with leaders of the company, the striking CIO United Auto Workers, and New Castle and Henry County officials.

The status of the troops had been in doubt since they rolled into New Castle early Thursday with tanks and halftracks. Lt. Gov. Harold W. Handley ordered the Muncie unit to stay at home. Atty. Gen. Edwin K. Steers said Handley was the state's chief executive with Craig in Miami for the American Legion national convention, but Craig countermanded Handley's order by telephone and sent the infantrymen into New Castle.

The UAW-CIO telegraphed the governor's office in Indianapolis protesting what it called use of the troops "to bolster one side of the argument." The union said it understood 40 outside employees were to be brought into the foundry Monday to get it ready to resume production.

The strike began July 25. Issues include wages, union shop, pension and a layoff pay plan.

The riot developed Wednesday when 5,000 strike sympathizers moved on the plant, where about 100 persons were working.

State police escorted the workers out of the plant.

Sheryl Clayton Queen of Polo Homecoming

POLO — (Special) — Sheryl Clayton was named homecoming queen during the dance which climaxed the Polo High School homecoming activities Friday night. Miss Clayton was chosen by popular vote of the students.

Homecoming weekend at Polo Community high school began on Thursday night with a rousing snake dance parade followed by a pep meeting.

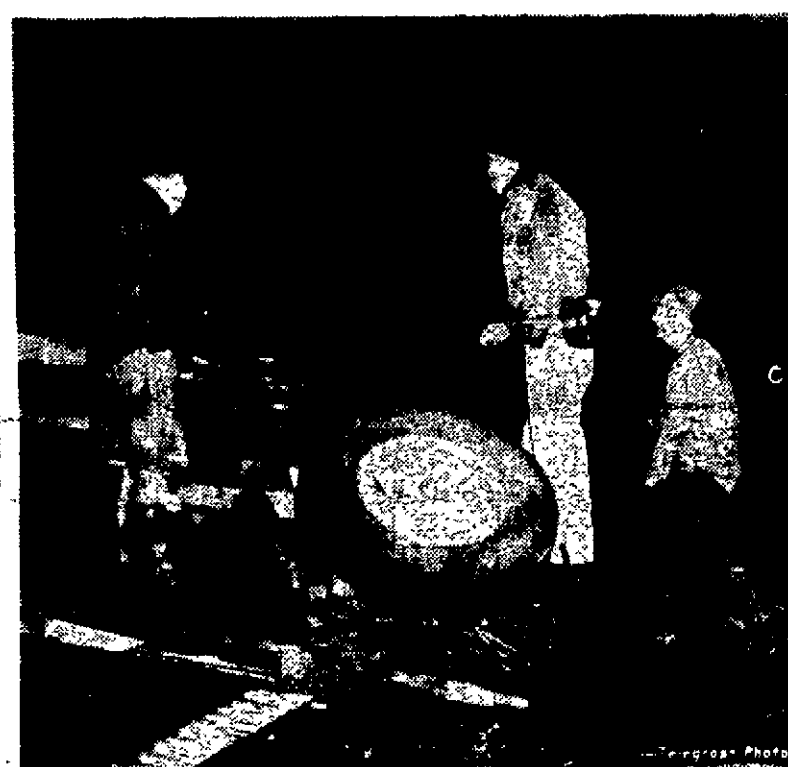

On Friday afternoon the Homecoming parade of floats started from the school grounds, traveled along several main streets, then assembled at the judges stand at the corner of Mason and Franklin Streets.

They were led by the high school band, followed by a fleet of convertibles carrying the attractive queen contestants.

The Latin Club won first place in the contest for the most beautiful float, with the junior class float placing second. Third place went to the float built by the sophomore class.

Seek Cause Of Airliner Crash Sift Wreckage as Climbers Bring Down Bodies of Victims

LARAMIE, Wyo. — (AP) — Investigators sifted through the shattered fragments of a four-engine plane on snow-custed Medicine Bow Peak today seeking an explanation of the nation's worst commercial airline crash.

W. A. Patterson, United Air Lines president, said the New York-to-San Francisco DC-4 coach flight was 25 miles west of the established airway when it smashed into the 12,006 foot peak. 40 miles west of here in southern Wyoming. Thursday killing 66 persons.

"Why the aircraft was off-course is not known at this time," Patterson said. "The cause is being sought in a complete investigation now being conducted by the Civil Aeronautics Board and by our company."

Expert mountaineers continued recovering bodies from the rocky ledges and snow-filled crevasses. The bodies of two women and two infants were brought from the scene Friday.

Leaders of the 150 experienced mountain climbers said it would require several days to retrieve the bodies of the other 39 adult passengers, and three crew members.

Lowered By Ropes The bodies are being lowered hundreds of yards by ropes and winches to trails where they are transported six miles to a University of Wyoming summer science lodge. There medical experts are attempting to identify the remains.

Many of the victims' next-of-kin were flown to Laramie by United and are taking part in the recovery operation at their own insistence.

Only expert alpinists are allowed to negotiate the final few hundred yards up a nearly perpendicular cliff to the crash scene, about 75 feet from the summit of the peak. Bodies are strewn with the wreckage along a 500-yard scorched path.

President Past Crisis Milestone

DENVER — (AP) — President Eisenhower's doctors found him "rested and cheerful" today as he passed without complications the important first milestone on the road to recovery.

The Denver White House put out the welcome mat for Vice President Nixon as the President continued to make normal progress from his heart attack.

"The President had a good night's sleep of more than eight hours," a 7 a.m. (MST) medical bulletin said. "This morning he is feeling rested and cheerful. His condition continues to progress satisfactorily without complications."

In addition to the visit with Nixon, the President's doctors approved also his first major business conference since his heart attack Sept. 24—a foreign policy meeting next Tuesday with Secretary of State Dulles.

Nixon is coming here at the President's invitation. Nixon's visit is described here as more social and personal than anything else. Doctors have ruled out any discussion of controversial or complicated problems of any nature for the time being.

Hagerty said the time of Dulles' call on the President Tuesday "will be determined by the doctors."

Hagerty added Eisenhower has wanted to see Dulles "just as soon as possible" to get what he described as "almost a continuing report" on foreign policy matters. The President, who will be 65 Oct. 14, is so cheerful that some of his doctors reportedly are worrying how they are going to keep him inactive the next several days.

Heart Healing

Physicians here have reported Eisenhower's damaged heart is healing. While they do not rule out the possibility of complications the next two weeks, they are obviously optimistic there will be complete recovery within the normal two months period as occurs in routine cases.

Hutchins Defends Fund for Republic at AVC Dinner

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Robert M. Hutchins says some critics have been making "outrageous" insinuations about the Fund for the Republic which he heads.

Speaking Friday night at the American Veterans Committee's "bill of rights" dinner, Hutchins said some political figures and commentators he did not name are spreading rumors to the effect that "in return for money" investigators for the fund "will oblige by digging up facts to support any prejudice that any officer or director of the fund may have."

"This insinuation is so outrageous," Hutchins said, "that it must arise out of acute alarm on the part of those who make it... I can only conclude that they are afraid of the truth."

Two Injured At Grand Detour Span

Truck Demolished In Early Morning Accident Today

GRAND DETOUR — (Special) — Two Genoa, Ill., men were seriously injured here early today when the loaded milk truck in which they were riding crashed into an abutment and plunged off the north end of the Grand Detour bridge which spans the Rock river.

Both men were taken to Dixon KSB hospital where they are reported in "fair" condition. They are: David Duval, 22, the driver of the truck, and Lawrence Weed, 24, a passenger.

The southbound truck, owned by Dean Milk Co. station at Genoa, was smashed into three pieces when it apparently tipped over the steel railing and plunged nearly 30 feet to the river bank below.

Milk Spills

Its contents, hundreds of cartons of milk and cream, was spilled onto the ground. That created a spectacular sight in the frosty dawn.

The truck ripped out several feet of guard railing before striking the steel abutment, then apparently rode the three-foot railing for several yards before tipping over the side.

The truck's gas tank, a wheel and several lesser parts were ripped off when it struck the abutment.

The gas tank reportedly exploded into flames and attracted the attention of a passing motorist. He in turn notified the Grand Detour fire department.

State Policeman George Kiner investigated the mishap. He reported that it apparently occurred about 5:30 a.m. (CST).

Parts of the truck were found nearly 100 feet from the wreckage. The cab of the truck was crushed. Both the cab and the body of the truck were torn from the twisted chassis.

Out of Control

There is a moderate curve in the highway (Rt. 2) between the bridge and the town. Tire marks show the truck apparently rounded the curve too far to the right and went out of control on the wet, grassy shoulder.

Both Duval and Weed apparently stayed in the truck when it toppled over the side of the bridge, according to observers.

Do You Know What to Do In Case of Kitchen Fire?

By KAY SHERWOOD

Is your kitchen an unsuspected fire trap?

Before you answer, take an objective look at your kitchen equipment, your habits and your knowledge of what you'd do in an emergency. Most of us, myself included, are crowding our luck.

The stove and its surroundings should claim the most intensive check-up. It's built to give years of service, but if it's getting cranky in its operation (the oven lights with explosive force, burner heat doesn't adjust properly, pilot lights go out too often) don't accommodate yourself to its ailments. Call in the serviceman.

As a matter of safety as well as pride, the stove should be kept clean. A fat-spattered stove, should a fire flare up in the skillet or broiler, become as definite hazard.

Adequate Clearance
The range should have adequate clearance from woodwork and other combustible materials, such as curtains and dish towels. If a stove must be or is near a window, either eliminate fluttery curtains or use nonflammable ones.

We probably flirt most audaciously with unfriendly fire in the kitchen when we're cooking fatty foods. The best advice for preventing a fat fire is never to leave foods unattended in broiler, griddle or skillet. If the telephone or doorbell rings, turn the heat off before you go to answer.

When I was checking up on my own precarious habits, I discovered that with one particularly heavy skillet I was draining surplus grease by pushing the can up close to the skillet, instead of having can and skillet away from the flame. This nearly cost me a nasty burn before I changed my ways.

Turn Off Heat
Supposing the worst happens and the fire is in the fat before you know it. You turn off the source of heat immediately. If you're hep to fire safety you'll have an approved commercial fire extinguisher of the proper type located near the kitchen.

If you don't have an extinguisher, you smother the flames by clapping a big metal lid or pan over the blaze or dumping on common household baking soda.

Baking soda, which can be kept in a labeled canister on or near the stove, releases a gas when heated which is heavier than air and actually smothers a fire by cutting off the air. If the fire damage to food is not severe, the soda residue can be rinsed off and the chops or prime steak saved.

Smoke damage to kitchen walls, cabinets, range and utensils is a by-product of fire that we also must cope with. Unless the damage is extensive, you can likely remove the smudge yourself by wiping down with a solution of four tablespoons of sal soda concentrated to one quart of warm water. Rinse with fresh water.

Theater Patrons Told of Fire; Play Goes on

BOSTON (AP) — The play, "No Time For Sergeants," went on as usual Friday night at the Colonial Theater — except for a brief interruption when 1,500 patrons were told why smoke was seeping into the building.

One of the hit comedy's producers explained a small fire had started in a metal rubbish container in a basement dressing room and set off a sprinkler alarm. Careless disposal of a cigarette was blamed by Deputy Fire Chief Edward J. Gaughan.

Don't Risk Private Fire; Call Fire Department Early

Ask any fireman and he'll tell you that fires, like icebergs, often are largely concealed.

Because a bad fire can and too frequently does build up hidden and undetected in wall spaces, attics and under piles of rubbish, the smartest thing to do the minute anyone smells smoke or even suspects a fire is to call the fire department at once.

And calling the fire department just for an investigation is nothing to be ashamed of. Firemen without exception appreciate such alert action and you certainly will appreciate it, too, if they actually do find a fire.

Little Fires
Another word of caution about little fires that could be bigger than they seem: never over-estimate your own fire fighting ability — before attempting to fight even the smallest fire, first call the fire department.

When it actually comes to calling the fire department, most people for some strange reason would rather leave this simple, logical job to someone else. It's a fact that a number of buildings, according to National Fire Protection Association records, have burned to the ground while crowds stood around wondering why the fire department didn't show up.

Everybody assumed that someone else had turned in the alarm — and no one had.

Minutes count in any fire — so make sure an alarm is turned in by calling the fire department yourself. And don't wait until an actual emergency forces you to learn how to do it quickly and correctly. Right now, learn the location of the nearest fire alarm box and check whether you know how to operate it properly.

Remember, too, to stay near the box after pulling the alarm so you can direct firemen right to the fire.

When telephoning, be certain that you know how to reach your home town fire department — this is especially important when several departments share the same exchange.

Reporting a fire by phone, remember to give: the street and number; the name of the city or town; what's burning; and your own name and phone number.

Laundry News

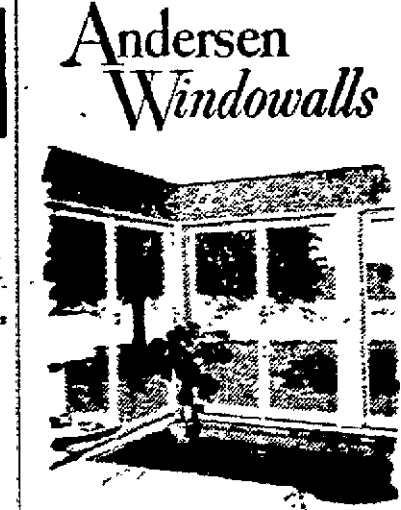

A new clothesline is said to make drying outdoors easier. The line is two strands of solid steel covered with plastic to resist wear, moisture and mold. The strands are twist-formed and a small spreader device is slid along the line to open strands several inches in each direction.

The wash is gripped tightly between the strands as spreader slides farther along the line. By sliding spreader back along the line, the clothes may be dropped out easily.

Remove That Grit

Dust and dirt show up far worse on a bare floor than on one which has a covering of some sort. The grit grinds into the finish and if neglected does real damage. By using the vacuum cleaner regularly these offenders can be removed before they have a chance to mar the good looks of the floor.

Records Show Fires Have Humorous Side

The demon Fire knows no laws, and he has a diabolical sense of humor besides. Here are some examples of fiery whimsy that happened during the past year:

Dennis Lowe of Nottingham, England, was traveling on a bus when he saw a smartly dressed woman in flames in a store entrance. He quickly jumped off to rescue her, only to discover he was about to save a tailor's dummy.

For 12 years a seminary near Poughkeepsie, N. Y., kept its own fire engine in a barn, waiting for a possible fire. One night last winter the barn burned, and the fire engine inside was destroyed.

In Bridgeport, Conn., firemen doused a blaze at a fire hydrant. They found that fumes from an underground gas line had seeped up about the hydrant base and ignited.

When their water supplies gave out in Comstock, Minn., firemen finally stopped a grocery store fire from spreading to an adjacent tavern by breaking beer bottles and dashing the contents on the saloon wall.

Probably the most expensive pizza pie in history belongs to Mrs. John A. Jacinco, Elizabeth, N. J. Baked along with it were $500 in cash, four $25 savings bonds, and a bank book—all hidden in a strong box in, naturally, the pizza oven.

A fire wrecked the Philadelphia Fire Marshal's office last summer. His office in fire headquarters was run by an explosion of highly flammable paper and fire crackers that had been seized for safekeeping.

Dangerous Cooky

I'm "Cooky," the fire that lives in your stove.

I hate being caged there; I wish I could rove!

My chance sometimes comes—when a curtain's close by I can zip up the wall in the wink of an eye.

Or whenever the broiler has grease splattered in it, I can flare up and out of control in a minute!

But keep the stove clean, curtains out of the way, And I'll cook your meals safely—you'll find it will pay!

The highest yearly farm fire loss in U. S. history jumped $75,000 when this dairy barn and silo burned at Newington, Conn., late last year. Total loss for the year was $157,000,000, a 13 per cent increase from the year before, according to U. S. Department of Agriculture estimates. Farm fires don't have to happen and they can be prevented by common-sense fire prevention measures, says the National Fire Protection Association.

Farm Fire Loss Is Highest Ever

Statistics Show 13% Increase During 1954

Each year farm fires exact a greater toll of life and property, says the National Fire Protection Association, sponsor of Fire Prevention Week, Oct. 9-15. Fire losses on the farm in 1954 jumped 13 per cent over the 1953 figure for a total of $157,000,000, according to the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

The majority of last year's farm fires should not have happened, and for farmers who would keep their farms free of fire, the NFPA has this advice:

1—Break the habit of smoking in bed and in danger areas such as barns, sheds and storerooms.

2—Keep furnaces, stoves, space heaters, brooders and other heating equipment clean and in good repair. Dirty or faulty heating equipment is another major source of farm fires. Have qualified repairmen service heating equipment at least once a year.

3—Store gasoline, kerosene, and other flammable liquids at least 40 feet from buildings. Underground storage is safest. Tight metal containers are the next best choice. When drawing off small amounts, use only safety cans made for the purpose.

4—Use fire-resistant building materials, particularly asphalt shingles or other fire-retardant roofing. Most city dwellers are required by building codes to use fire-retardant roofing, but it's up to the farmer to take this precautionary step on his own, the NFPA points out.

5—Clean up trash, oily rags, accumulated magazines and papers, and dead vegetation in yards and fields, particularly along fence lines. "Don't give a fire a place to start," is the Fire Prevention Week slogan.

Necessary Safety Precautions To Control Outdoor Fires

The smell of smoke in the air is a traditional fall aroma which many of us relish. Fire authorities, however, recognize it as the symbol of one of the season's greatest dangers: outdoor fires.

Whether they are lighted for picnickers' pleasure, hunters' needs or householders' chores—whether they are built in the forest, in an open field or in your own back yard—outdoor fires have one thing in common: the threat of spreading out of control.

The National Board of Fire Underwriters suggests these safety rules to lessen the danger:

1. Burn only in areas where fires are permitted. This means respecting posted woodland areas where fires are prohibited. It also means checking to see whether your town prohibits trash and leaf fires, or requires you to get a permit to burn from the fire chief.

2. Never start an outdoor fire on a windy day.

3. Clear a 3-foot strip around the place where you wish to burn. Remove all grass or underbrush; get down to mineral earth.

4. If the fire is in your yard, hook up your garden hose for use in case of emergency.

5. Use a wire-mesh basket or a metal container, with a cover, to burn trash or leaves.

6. Don't start a fire near a building, a fence, or overhanging branches.

7. Keep children away from open fires unless someone supervises them.

8. Never leave your fire unat-

Pull Up the Seige Guns

Many years before he became president, the late Franklin D. Roosevelt was stricken and became the nation's most famous polio victim.
Its crippling effects plagued him the rest of his life, most cruelly in his final, failing months. But because the spotlight shone so brightly on him as a national figure, thousands of other polio victims benefited.
He dramatized the ailment. With the organization of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis and the Warm Springs Foundation, Americans found outlets through which they could express their concern. Well-publicized fund drives, focused on Mr. Roosevelt's birthday, fattened the coffers for antipolio research.
The painstaking effort that went into development and preparation of the celebrated Salk vaccine, with its promise of protection for millions, is a direct outgrowth of the interest thus generated.
Conceivably, the same sort of thing might happen in the field of heart disease, now that Americans have seen their tremendously popular President, Dwight Eisenhower, laid low by this all too common affliction.
Polio is an occasional killer, oftentimes a crippler, but altogether nothing like the menace of heart disease. In 1954 more than half of all the deaths in America were caused by heart and circulatory ailments.
As the president's case seems to suggest, present knowledge and wise care are sufficient today to offer the hope of full or nearly full recovery to countless of the afflicted. But the death toll nevertheless goes on, and much vital work needs to be done.
Oddly, this No. 1 killer is not being combated with the volume of funds available to the polio researchers. Hopeful lines of inquiry are being cast out, but unless more money comes in they cannot be pursued with full vigor.
No one can say with any certainty that men of imagination and organizing talent will now appear to dramatize the president's illness for the benefit of millions of heart sufferers. It could happen.
But whether or not it does, the average American who is deeply moved by Mr. Eisenhower's misfortune need not wait for the "March of Quarters" or whatever some enterprising men might decide to call a great push for heart research.
The ball has already been started rolling by a number of newspapers over the county. They've called for an outpouring of generosity on the president's birthday, Oct. 14. They suggest that "get well" cards be sent to Denver with donations to the fund of the American Heart Association enclosed.

The happiest women are those who make the most of being a woman, enjoying all of a woman's privileges and capably discharging all of a woman's responsibilities.
You aren't making the most of being a woman if...
You look on cooking as a dull chore and go on year after year cooking the same old foods in the same old way instead of experimenting with new dishes, making foods look as attractive as possible, and taking real pride in the meals you set before your family.
You are a conscientious mother but don't have fun with your children.
You worry and fret and inwardly fume about your husband's shortcomings, instead of trying to make up for his lacks so that the two of you make a real team.
You don't care anything about pretty clothes or perfume or other feminine trappings that make a woman feel every inch a woman.
ARE YOU THINKING OF OTHERS?
You think you don't have time for the small kindnesses, the expressions of sympathy, the giving of your time and interest to others, so much a part of any really womanly woman.
You tell yourself you "hate housework" instead of taking real pride in one of your major jobs in life.
You envy women who can sew, who seem to have a knack for decorating their homes attractively. These skills can be learned by any woman who puts her mind to the task.

The Doctor Says
Most Effective Drugs Are Potent; Use With Due Care
By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.

Almost any drug which is strong enough to be useful also possesses properties which can be harmful or unpleasant effects.
Q—What harmful effects can come from the prolonged use of dextroamphetamine tablets? Will they cause insanity?—Mrs. J. B.
A—This drug, and those which are related to it, exert some stimulating actions on the central nervous system and have thus been used in certain conditions characterized by mental depression. They also act on the stomach, reducing the sensation of hunger to some extent, and are sometimes used as an aid in helping to maintain a rigid diet. Dextroamphetamine has some other effects. It can, for example, cause a temporary increase in the level of blood sugar. It is not a recognized cause for insanity. Since it is a potent preparation, it should not be taken for a prolonged period unless the patient is closely watched by a physician in case undesirable effects develop.
Q—I have just read your article about some people who seem to enjoy ill health. However, there are a large number who are unfortunate in that they have real physical disabilities and their relatives and friends will delight in this article as proof that they were right in settling the actual ailments. Why not write on the other side of the question?—E.
A—I believe it is cruel to make fun of or belittle the misery of those who are ill.
Q—Please explain alepecia areata. My son started to go bald in spots on the head and even his chin soon after his discharge from the Navy.—Mrs. E. M.
A—Alepecia areata is a peculiar condition in which the hair, usually of the head but sometimes elsewhere, falls out in spots, perhaps varying in size of a dime to that of a half dollar. What causes this is still entirely unknown. The hair usually grows back after a substantial passage of time.
Q—Is a dark, discolored stool a definite sign of cancer?—Reader.
A—Tests for blood should be made; if it is found, the digestive tract should be examined for the source of the bleeding. There are many possibilities, other than cancer, such as an ulcer of the stomach, but this symptom, when it occurs, requires immediate follow-up to find the cause.
Q—I have rheumatoid arthritis and have been told that someone with this ailment should not drink milk, or eat cottage cheese or eggs. What is your advice?—Mrs. M. N.
A—Unless there are exceptional circumstances which make

These foods undesirable, it seems unlikely that most doctors would eliminate milk, milk products and eggs from the diet of a person with rheumatoid arthritis.
Q—Is there a test that shows if a person is allergic to cats?—Mrs. S. T.
A—Solutions can be made from cat dander, or cat hair, which then can be applied to the human skin. The reaction or lack of same to such solutions would usually show whether or not allergy was present.
Questions and Answers
Q—Who was Count Alessandro Volta?
A—An Italian physicist (1745-1827). The volt, unit of electromotive force, was named for him.
Q—Has the constitutional amendment limiting a U.S. president to two terms of office been ratified by the required 36 states?
A—Passed by Congress on March 24, 1947, the amendment was ratified on Feb. 27, 1951, when Minnesota—the 36th state—approved it.
Q—Was the Star-Spangled Banner an original melody?
A—No. Francis Scott Key's words were set to a British tune—"To Anacreon in Heaven."
Q—In whose honor did Congress declare September a bicentennial month?
A—In honor of the 200th anniversary of the birth of John Marshall, Revolutionary soldier, statesman, diplomat and "the great Chief Justice" of the U. S. from 1801 to 1835.
Q—What is New York City's biggest industry?
A—Manufacturing women's clothing. Some 300,000 people in the famed Garment District turn out $5 billion dollars' worth of clothing a year.

A Saturday Night Historical Notebook

Another Version of the Wedding Party... Buying a Bride... Davis Impressed... George Page

By ROGER THOMPSON
Telegraph Staff Writer

In last week's article from "Lincoln Lore" on Abraham Lincoln and Jefferson Davis in the Black Hawk War, the author, Dr. Louis A. Warren, quoted a story from a California newspaper in 1923. It concerned a tradition that Zachary Taylor, Davis and Lincoln once attended a dance together, and that Lincoln protected Davis during a budding fight.

Checking into the story, we would like to relate the story as presented by Percival Graham Rensick in an article, "The Peoria and Galena Trail and Coach Road and the Peoria Neighborhood," which appeared in the "Journal of the Illinois State Historical Society" in 1935.

The dance mentioned took place in Bulbosa's Grove, which was southwest of the present community of Wyanet. Bulbosa was a Frenchman who had married an Indian. By 1832 they had an adult daughter, Zeffa. Zeffa had two lovers, one, whom the mother preferred, was an Indian, and the other, acceptable to the father, was a French trader.

The young Frenchman eventually won his suit by paying his Indian rival 21 blankets and 50 strings of beads to leave him a clear field with Zeffa. The wedding date was arranged, and a large party of settlers and Indians arrived for the wedding feast.

The party was under way when a light wagon stopped at the door of Bulbosa's house, and one of the party aboard asked for shelter. What happened from that point was related by the driver of the wagon, a Mr. Kilgore, of Peoria, to N. Matson, of Princeton, in 1872.

Aboard the wagon were Col. Zachary Taylor, Lt. Jefferson Davis and a Captain Smith. The officers were invited in, and soon entered the spirit of the party. Matson tells that Davis joined in the dancing and drank liberally of the liquor provided.

Davis was impressed with the beauty of a young Indian girl, a niece of Mrs. Bulbosa, and would dance with no other woman present. It also is said that Davis changed each dance into a waltz so he could put his arms around the girl.

Such ardent attention was distasteful to the girl, and she told her brother, a powerful young Indian, that she had been insulted. The brother moved toward Davis to avenge the insult, and Davis drew his pistol. Col. Taylor caught Davis' arm and pushed him outside the house before a fight began. The officers moved away from Bulbosa's Grove at once.

Somehow, the story isn't nearly so romantic as the version which has Lincoln protecting the man who would head the Confederacy in its fight against the Union with Lincoln as President. But the embroidered versions of history, known as traditions, are with us always, it seems.

School now has been in progress more than a month, and we have evidence that the Junior Historians of Washington school are active again. The following article appears in the October issue of "Illinois Junior Historian," the state magazine for young lovers of history.

By STUART KEELEY

Each year many Lee county residents as well as visitors from Chicago and vicinity, enjoy the beauty and recreational facilities of Page Park in Dixon, without realizing that it was given to them by the family of George H. Page, a local boy who became famous.

Page was born in Palmyra, six miles west of Dixon, on May 16, 1836, the youngest of eight children. His brother Charles was a correspondent for the "New York Tribune" during the Civil War and in 1866 became the United States consul in Zurich, Switzerland. George, who had been a clerk in the War Department in Washington for three years, went with his brother as vice consul.

In Switzerland George conceived the idea of building up a business of condensing milk for exportation. With his brothers, Charles and David, George established factories in Switzerland, Germany, England and other countries. Even after becoming an internationally known businessman, George dreamed of building a factory near his birthplace, Palmyra. Consequently he returned to the United States and erected the Anglo-Swiss Milk factory on the western outskirts of Dixon. When it went into operation in 1889, it was the largest such factory in the world.

Later George returned to Switzerland, where he died in 1899. His body was brought back to Dixon, and a great funeral procession attested to the esteem in which he was held. He was buried in the Page family plot in the little country cemetery at Palmyra.

In 1902 the Borden Milk Company bought the factory at Dixon, and it is still in operation today. The buildings are almost exactly like they were when Page built them.

What Dixon talked about 100 Years Ago—1855

"Miss White has taken charge of the electric telegraph office at this place. The ladies, we believe, are more punctual than wild young men or boys can be; therefore we shall not be subject to the annoyance of running about a half day in order to find an operator, to send a dispatch a few miles. In fact, who would not prefer doing business with the ladies?"

Make the Most of Being A Woman, Gain Happiness

The happiest women are those who make the most of being a woman, enjoying all of a woman's privileges and capably discharging all of a woman's responsibilities.
You aren't making the most of being a woman if...
You look on cooking as a dull chore and go on year after year cooking the same old foods in the same old way instead of experimenting with new dishes, making foods look as attractive as possible, and taking real pride in the meals you set before your family.
You are a conscientious mother but don't have fun with your children.
You worry and fret and inwardly fume about your husband's shortcomings, instead of trying to make up for his lacks so that the two of you make a real team.
You don't care anything about pretty clothes or perfume or other feminine trappings that make a woman feel every inch a woman.
ARE YOU THINKING OF OTHERS?
You think you don't have time for the small kindnesses, the expressions of sympathy, the giving of your time and interest to others, so much a part of any really womanly woman.
You tell yourself you "hate housework" instead of taking real pride in one of your major jobs in life.
You envy women who can sew, who seem to have a knack for decorating their homes attractively. These skills can be learned by any woman who puts her mind to the task.
You worry about keeping up

Howell Says Successor Is Chosen

CHICAGO (U)—Evan Howell, chairman of the Illinois Toll Road Commission, says a new executive director has been chosen for the commission, but that his name will not be disclosed for some time.

Howell Friday said the man, chosen to succeed Vice Adm. Francis P. Old, who resigned, now holds a position in private industry. He said the man's present position might be jeopardized if his name were announced now.

The commission chairman said the man knows toll roads and their operation. He said he is not a Chicagoan.

Gov. Stratton also declined to identify Old's expected successor, but said he was "a top expert in his field."

The commission, meeting Friday, decided that the bond issue soon to be sold to finance the turnpike program will be $145,000,000 instead of the $390,000,000 estimate made earlier.

Howell said the most important factor causing the increase in the estimate was the delay caused by property owners along the proposed route of the toll road. The property owners challenged the legality of the toll road plan in U. S. district court and the U. S. Supreme Court.

A second petition for a rehearing of the property owners' suit is pending but Howell said it will not affect plans for disposing of the bonds.

Among the increased costs listed by the commission were an 8 1/2 million dollar additional cost for acquiring land and a 5 1/2 million dollar boost in the cost of engineering.

Prospective buyers of the toll road bonds are scheduled to meet Thursday in New York. Gov. Stratton and Edwin A. Rosenstone, director of the Department of Public Works and Buildings, will attend the meeting.

In Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD — (NEA) — It's the mamas of juvenile stars, not the kids, who should be spanked and sent home.

Permanently, Fern Carter said, pointing to the gray hairs on her head accumulated during 36 years as a movie studio schoolteacher. "There's one gray hair," she said, "for every movie mama I've met."

But it's not a goodbye yet for the Mrs. Chips of Hollywood. Sixty-two-year-old Fern Carter, a grandmother, has no plans for retirement because "children keep me mentally young."

Movie mamas pushing their kids into the spotlight for 36 years may have given Fern gray hairs, but they haven't bothered her placid, intelligent approach to the three R's on Movietown's frantic road to fame and fortune.

SOME DAY, THOUGH, Fern says she'd like to write two books about her career as a Movietown Mrs. Chips. One on the mothers, the other on the children. "But maybe," she laughed, "I better not write the book on the mothers first. I might never live to tell the story of the children."

Fern's story on Movietown's children dates back to 1919. She asked the Los Angeles board of education for part-time work as a schoolteacher and was assigned to a movie set. "My Wild Irish Rose," Her first Hollywood student was a youngster named Mickey Daniels.

When Mickey joined the new "Our Gang" comedies in 1920, Fern went along as his teacher, writing out report cards for Jackie Cooper, Johnny Downs and Spanky McFarland, among hundreds of others.

She was the Gang's schoolteacher for 23 years and now she leaps from big movie sets like "Giant" at Warner Bros. to small telefilm sets.

FARINA, the little Negro boy in the Gang comedies, is Fern's nomination for the brightest lad she's ever taught.
One day on the set, she remembers, Farina's mother suspected he was chewing gum. "Farina, are you chewing gum," asked mama. "No," replied Farina. "Then what do you have in your mouth?"

Replied seven-year-old Farina: "Just saliva, mother, just saliva."
RECENTLY FERN has been saying "Cut" to Director George Stevens. The word generally is reserved for directors but Fern's "Cut" carries even more authority. Three-month-old twins, Ricky and David Bishop, play the children of Elizabeth Taylor and Rock Hudson in "Giant."

Their appearances before the camera are limited to 30 seconds at a time, according to the child labor law. Mrs. Carter gravely eyed her stop watch and called a halt to all shooting when the second hand reached 30.

But there was a day in Fern's career when she called a halt to shooting for an entire day. Joe Cobb, the fat lad in the Our Gang comedies, was sitting in the back seat of an open car with a group of other kids for the first scene of the day.

SOMETHING not in the script was happening as the cameraman was lining up the shot. As Fern tells it:
"All the kids were popping pimples on Joe's face, arms and on the back of his neck. I climbed into the car, took one look and yelled. 'That's all for today.'"

All the kids went home and so did the crew.
Now it's The Cheerleaders on the Rockpile. They just recorded: "The Rock Hudson Rock and Roll."

Miss Pilgrim
Writes Hints to Homemakers

By JUNE PILGRIM
Lee County Home Adviser

The homemaker today has a great selection of detergents when she goes to the market. In fact, there's a good chance for confusion. Many times "the little woman" ends up with the one with the best discount or coupon offer. And this often is not a good choice or good consumer buying.

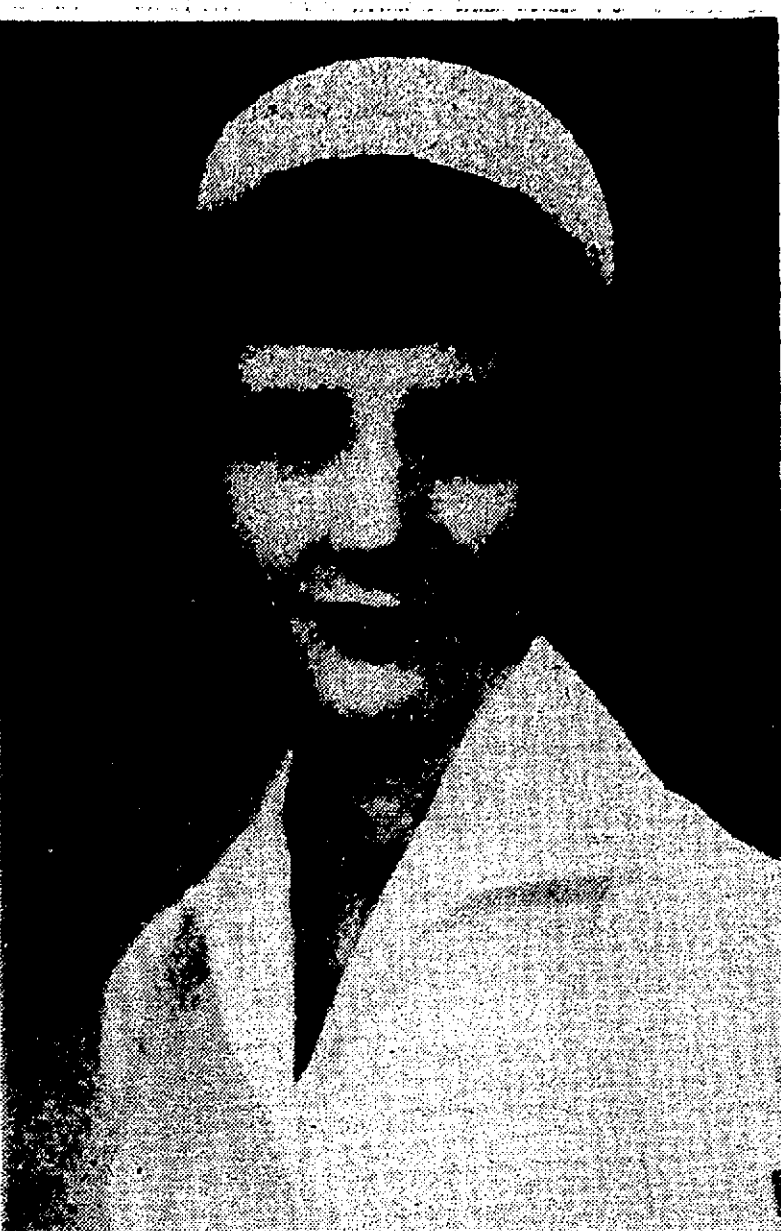

Homemakers need to realize that there are two basic types of detergents sold today. They are (1) heavy duty or all-purpose "built" ones. In other words, chemicals are added to increase soil removal or detergency so they can be used in hard or soft water. (2) The light duty or neutral detergents are usually labeled "as a neutral alkyl aryl sulfonate detergent." These are meant for light laundering, fine fabrics and dishes.

There are several kinds of heavy duty detergents. They are divided into (a) high sudsing (b) low sudsing and (c) very low sudsing. The (a) ones may be used in any top loading agitator, pulsator automatic washer, or conventional washer. They may also be used in hand washing. The (b) kind of detergents vary as to amount of suds-level produced, but in general they can be used in all top-loading agitator or pulsator automatic washers, and in tumbler type automatic washers. These detergents have a water softener built into their formulas and when used in soft water can produce excessive suds which may cause "suds lock" or stop the washing cycle. The low sudsing detergents also contain optical bleaches (sometimes called whitening agents, fluorescent dyes, sunshine ingredients or brightening agents. This makes the use of additional bleaches unnecessary except for stubborn stains.

The (c) kind of detergents (very low sudsing) is a heavy duty all-purpose detergent recommended for all types of automatic washers and specifically for tumbler-type washers where excessive suds can cause difficulties.

The homemaker should read the package and study its directions for use. Amounts will vary for each product. Hard water areas require slightly more detergent than soft water areas. Directions on packages are for normal water. Always use a measuring cup. Decide on the amount of detergent your water requires and always use that amount. Determine which product gives the cleanest wash in your machine and in with your water supply, and buy that detergent. Changing detergents constantly is not desirable. Never use a soap with a syndet.

Public Library Receives Gifts In September

The Dixon Public Library received an "unusual" number of gifts during the month of September, according to an announcement from the library.

Esther Barton, Dixon, and Elsa Larson, DeKalb, presented Dorland's "American Illustrated Medical Dictionary" in memory of Dr. Zoltan Glatter.

Dr. and Mrs. Carl Rosenberg gave $20 to be used for books. Dr. Eugene Vest gave $10 to be used for books.

Eustace Schuler presented a check for $55.31 in memory of his aunt, Anna Eustace. The money was not designated, and the library directors plan to buy special equipment which will be needed when the new children's department is completed.

The library also received $48.75 from the Eleanor and Harry Edwards fund. The amount is the semi-annual interest from an investment in government bonds, and is to be spent for travel and history books. Frederick J. Garner, Grand Detour, designed a special book plate for books purchased from the Edwards fund.

The library directors and staff expressed their appreciation for the gifts.

Revive Boy Found in YMCA Pool

STERLING—(Special)—A nine-year-old Morrison boy was hospitalized, but reported in good condition, after narrowly escaping drowning in the Sterling Y.M.C.A. swimming pool Friday night.

Firemen worked a half hour to revive Lloyd Gallentine, son of Lloyd Gallentine, after he was found unconscious in the pool. The boy was moved to Community General Hospital after he began breathing again.

Firemen reported the boy had a bump on his head, indicating he may have fallen against a hard object. No one saw the boy enter the pool.

He was found at the bottom of the pool about 7 p.m. A father-son swimming party was in progress.

A doctor ordered the boy hospitalized for fear of possible pneumonia.

Governor Well Satisfied With Welfare Progress

CHICAGO—Gov. Stratton says he is "well satisfied" with the "remarkable progress" made in the state's welfare organizations.

The governor opened a personal tour of state institutions Friday by visiting the Chicago State Hospital. Stratton, accompanied by his wife, stopped several times during the four-hour tour to chat with patients at the huge mental institution.

Once the governor paused to offer advice to two mental patients who were playing checkers.

He said Illinois has a "new look" in the mental health field and that the Welfare Department is placing more emphasis on research and training to overcome staff shortages.

Stratton noted at the Chicago hospital that "for the first time in years, there are no patients sleeping on the floor."

Taking "Short Cut"
There was speculation Cooke was trying to make up some of the time by taking a "short cut" across the Snowy Range or turbulent winds pulled him off course. The plane left Denver at 6:33 a.m. MET and 30 minutes later smashed into the peak.

Officials said the plane was not overloaded. Its normal passenger load is 64 adults. It cruises at 240 miles an hour—presumably the speed it was going when it slammed into the peak.

U.S. Hunts Way to Find Hidden Nuclear Weapons Puts Eight Task Forces To Work on Big Problem

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (U)—

The U.N. Disarmament Subcommittee wound up its talk Friday night with the announcement the United States has put eight task forces to work on schemes to detect hidden nuclear weapons and find ways of controlling arms.

Harold E. Stassen, President Eisenhower's special envoy on disarmament, told the subcommittee a special group of scientists would take up the problem of concealed atomic and hydrogen bombs. The known inability of present scientific instruments to locate shielded nuclear weapons has raised doubts in the subcommittee on the value of inspection plans.

Mother, Son Slain; Quiz Her Husband

PHILIPPI, W. Va. (U)—An expectant mother and a 16-month old son were shot to death with a 12-gauge shotgun in a rural area near this Barbour county seat Friday night, and the husband and father was held for questioning.

State Police Sgt. Robert Karickhoff identified the woman as Mrs. Lucille Swiger England, about 35. Karickhoff told a newsman early today that the woman's husband, William Henry England, about 35, was being held for questioning.

Karickhoff said officers went to the home on Sand Run Road, five miles south of here, after England had contacted state police.

They found Mrs. England dead on the kitchen floor. She had been shot through the chest.

The preliminary investigation indicated the same shot apparently fatally wounded the little boy after passing through Mrs. England's body.

Stassen said seven other teams headed by military men, industrialists and scientists would take up other inspection problems in an effort to smooth the way to disarmament.

18 Sessions
Delegates from the United States, Britain, France, Canada and Russia issued formal statements to the windup meeting of the subcommittee which began its current series of 18 sessions Aug. 29. The only new points were brought up by the United States and Britain.

Britain's Minister of State Anthony Nutting proposed setting up an over-all group of five scientists, representing each of the nations on the subcommittee to work on scientific ways of absolute detection of atomic devices.

Russia's Arkady Sobolev credited Eisenhower's mutual aerial inspection plan as a sincere approach to disarmament controls, but expressed doubt such an exchange of information could go far towards stopping the arms race. Sobolev said there was an area of agreement on the arms question but added bluntly that it must come on Russia's terms.

Cites Army Cut
The Russian delegate recalled Russia's announced cut of 640,000 men in her armed forces and her agreement to return Porkkala naval base to Finland and suggested the West show similar good faith in reducing tensions.

Stassen said the Russians had left many questions unanswered on their own arms plans. Nutting

Moroccan Fighting Confused

RABAT, French Morocco (U)—Confused and difficult fighting continued near the Spanish Moroccan border today where about 3,000 rebels were engaged in hit and run tactics.

More reinforcements pushed from Fez to aid forward troops in a triangle formed by the outposts of Boured, Aknoul and Tizi Ouzil.

Up to 4,000 French and North African soldiers in three groups, each consisting of one to three battalions, already were engaged in operations much like punching a feather pillow.

Although French casualties were not large they did not seem to be accomplishing anything.

The official casualty list published yesterday said three soldiers were killed and 11 wounded in the previous 24 hours.

Saudi Arabia Weighs Offer Of Red Arms

CAIRO, Egypt (U)—Another Arab country, Saudi Arabia, today weighed an offer from behind the Iron Curtain to sell its guns.

The offer came from Moscow. Crown Prince Faisal, Saudi Arabian premier and foreign minister here for a conference of Arab foreign ministers today, confirmed reports Russia has made the arms offer. He added "nothing definite has been decided."

The disclosure came on the heels of an agreement by Egypt to swap cotton to Czechoslovakia for armaments.

Saudi Arabia, like Egypt, has rejected an American arms offer, refusing to sign a mutual security pact.

15,000 Chicago City Employees Ask Pay Raise

CHICAGO (U)—More than 15,000 city employees have asked for pay raises through their unions. City officials estimate that raises would cost 13 million dollars a year.

Raises sought for policemen and firemen alone would add eight million dollars annually to the city payroll, a budget official estimated after hearing Friday's union proposals.

The policemen also asked for a 40-hour work week, but Mayor Richard Daley said this could not be met in the 1956 budget. The Police Department now is on a 44-hour week.

went a step further and charged Sobolev had delayed the subcommittee's efforts by being "evasive and uncommunicative."

Canada's Paul Martin expressed regret the subcommittee had to halt its work for the foreign ministers' Geneva meeting just when the East-West gap appeared lessened.

France's Jules Moch said the Eisenhower plan was obscure because Stassen failed to make clear whether it was a prelude to actual disarmament measures.

The United States has said repeatedly the plan was only intended as a first step toward building confidence which would lead to disarmament.

Stassen said a task force headed by Dr. Ernest O. Lawrence of the University of California Radiation Laboratories, "stands ready to consider any suggestion which any government or scientist may make to develop fully effective means of accounting for nuclear weapons material and the detection of nuclear weapons if they are concealed."

Name Leaders

He said other groups would be headed as follows:
Gen. James H. Doolittle, war hero: Designing methods for aerial inspection and reporting.

Li Gen. Walter B. Smith, Eisenhower's chief aide in World War II and later ambassador to Moscow: Designing inspection and reporting methods for Army and ground force units.

Vice Adm. Oswald S. Colclough, dean at George Washington University: Control of navies and naval aircraft missiles.

Benjamin Fairless, U. S. Steel Corp.: The steel industry.

Dr. Harold Moulting of the Brookings Institute: Inspection of budgets.

Dr. James B. Fish, Bell Telephone Laboratories: Communications inspections.

Capone's Tax Man Indicted

CHICAGO (U)—William M. Brantman, 62, an accountant who government prosecutors say once did tax work for the Al Capone gang, has been indicted for forgery by a federal grand jury.

Asst. U.S. Atty. Edward Calihan Friday said Brantman is accused of cashing stolen government bonds. Calihan said the bonds, valued at $65,200, were taken in a burglary of the Plainville Machine Works, near Indianapolis, on Jan. 2, 1954.

Brantman, who heads a LaSalle street accounting firm, said a man who introduced himself as Charles E. England, president of the machine works, brought him the bonds. He said England asked him for help in cashing the bonds.

Delay Dubuque Packing Firm's Nuisance Hearing

City Atty. Edward Jones said today that the hearing on the Dubuque Packing Company's alleged "nuisance" operation, located at the south edge of Dixon, has been continued until late in October.

The hearing was originally scheduled for 4 p.m. this afternoon before Justice of the Peace Edwin Merrick.

Jones said the delay was necessary because the co-defendants, Richard Shaffer, Dixon operator of the buying station, and the Dubuque firm have agreed upon a consolidated hearing.

He said the Dubuque firm was served with a warrant only Friday and has 10 days under the law before a hearing.

Shaffer and the company are charged with violating a city ordinance. The charge stems from a petition signed about a month ago by 75 property owners in that area.

Voice of the People

Dixon Evening Telegraph
Editor: Voice of the People Column
Dixon, Illinois
Dear Editor:

So the store hours are being "reviewed" again in Dixon. This last spring a poll of the customers indicated they were ten to one in favor of stores being open Saturday night. A poll of the businessmen themselves were 42 to 4 in favor of stores being open Saturday night. I believe these stores opposed were the managers of Penney's, Eichler's, Kline's, and Montgomery Ward's.

My reaction to the stores being closed Saturday night is that of strong disapproval. We do little shopping in Dixon as a result.

Although I'm very much in favor of the stores being open Saturday night the whole year through, if the opponents to that plan can't agree to that, here is my solution, a compromise: All the stores stay open Friday nights, closed Saturday nights during the months we have Daylight Saving Time; all the stores close Friday nights, stay open Saturday nights during the months we have Central Standard Time.

However, I repeat, I much prefer all the stores being open Saturday night throughout the year.

Sincerely,
A Former Dixon Shopper

Argentina Purging Peron Pals

BUENOS AIRES (U)—Juan D. Peron, Argentina's deposed dictator, spent his 60th birthday today as a controversial exile in neighboring Paraguay. The new Argentina government is demanding that Paraguay boot him out of America because of his political remarks.

In the drive to call members of the old regime not granted exile to a stern accounting, the provisional government arrested four of Peron's former close associates as they left asylum in foreign embassies.

Three Surrender
Idefonso Cava g n a Martinez, Peron's last foreign minister, voluntarily left the Paraguayan embassy and gave himself up to the authorities.

Air Force Maj. Gen. Armando Mendez a Martin, who as education minister spearheaded the Peronista campaign against the Roman Catholic Church, left the Uruguayan embassy and went with his brother to the Aeronautics Ministry to give himself up.

Jorge Antonio, who is reported to have made a quick fortune during the regime of his friend Peron, also walked out of the Uruguayan embassy and drove to the Interior Ministry, where army and police officials arrested him.

The government had denied Antonio a safe-conduct pass to exile, charging him with "common offenses" rather than political crimes.

Guillermo Solveyra Casares, who commanded the national gendarmes, also was arrested.

No Birthday Fuss
Peron, still living at the home of a rich Argentine friend in Asuncion, Paraguay's capital, apparently did not make any fuss over his birthday, which used to be the occasion for loud celebration in Buenos Aires.

Paraguayan authorities held a two-hour top level session yesterday in Asuncion on Argentina's demand that Peron be ousted from Paraguay. There was no immediate announcement of a decision.

Argentina's New government headed by provisional President Eduardo Donardi feels Peron in Asuncion is too close for comfort. The immediate cause of demands that he be packed off was his reported remarks to a newsman last Sunday that he still considers himself Argentina's constitutional president.

MacMurray, which is affiliated with the Methodist Church, is expanding its facilities, Norris said, to take care of "the tidal wave of students expected in the next ten years" at the nation's colleges and universities.

Dukes Halt NC Drought, Beat Ottawa, 19-12

First Conference Win Since 1953

Wooten Scores Twice, Hamill Once, as Offense Gets Rolling

The Dixon Dukes ended a six-game North Central Illinois conference losing streak Friday night by scoring an impressive 19-12 upset victory over the Ottawa Pirates.

For the Dukes, it was their second win of the season against two losses. The setback was Ottawa's first after winning three.

Dixon now moves into a second-place tie in the conference with Sterling. Both have 1-1 records, while DeKalb, which turned in a 12-6 win over Sterling, holds first place with a 2-0 record. Ottawa and Hall have lost their only league games.

The Dukes had not won a conference game since 1953, when they scored a 28-14 win over DeKalb, the team Dixon visits next week. Dixon then lost its last conference game in 1953 to Hall, failed to win one in 1954, and lost to Sterling in the first loop game this year.

It was Dixon's first win over Ottawa since 1951. In 1952, the teams battled to a 7-7 tie.

Team Victory
It was definitely a team victory with all members of the squad sharing in the glory at one time or another, either on offense or defense. And there were lapses by most members which almost proved costly at times.

Dixon took the lead in the first quarter when John Wooten scored from the 10 and Bob Hill converted. Though they never lost the lead, the Dukes had many anxious moments before Wooten climaxed the scoring with a 1 foot plunge with 1:30 left in the game.

The wet and slippery conditions made the going a bit rough for both clubs at times, but not as much as might be expected. The Dukes completed three of six passes and fumbled just three times.

Bob Hill got off a good boot to start the game and Ottawa took over on its own 20. But a five yard penalty and losses on two of three running plays put the Pirates on their own 12 with fourth down and they punted.

Lead, 7-0
The ball rolled out of bounds on the Ottawa 35 and Dixon took over. Bpb Hamill, John Wooten and Max Akerman took turns cracking the Ottawa line to move to the Pirate 10 in seven plays. Then Wooten smashed up the middle for 10 yards to score.

Hill kicked the extra point and the Dukes led, 7-0.

But trouble was just around the corner. Fred Ieuter returned the kickoff to the Pirate 33 and with the help of a five yard penalty against Dixon, Ottawa began to march. The Pirates picked up a first down on the 47 and on third down, went 22 yards on an option pitchout and followed it up with an 11 yard plunge to move to the Dixon 16. Dixon held the Pirates to six yards in three plays but on fourth down, Jack Meckenstock, Pirate quarterback, lateraled to Ieuter on the option play and Ieuter skirted left end to score.

Pass for 52 Yards
Ottawa kicked off out of bounds and Dixon took over on its own 40. On second down, Dixon was penalized 15 yards for pushing and was sent back to the 22.

Bob Hamill then faded back and heaved to Ken Mueller, who leaped to grab the ball out of a Pirate defender's hands, picked up a nice block from Akerman and went 52 yards to the Ottawa 26.

Howard Mighell, Akerman and Wooten played the ball to the four in four plays and Hamill hit left guard and went over to put Dixon in front, 13-6. The touchdown was made on the second play of the second quarter.

The rest of the half remained a seesaw battle until late in the period when Dixon marched to the Pirate 29 after Mighell had recovered a fumble on the Pirate 38. The Duke attack stalled on the 20 and Ottawa took over.

Pirates Intercept
With 45 seconds left, Wooten intercepted a Pirate pass and ran it back to the Dixon 40. But on first down, a Howard Mighell pass was intercepted by Keith Severson on the Ottawa 25 and he returned it to the Dixon 24.

Only 20 seconds remained when Meckenstock passed to Ieuter who was in a screen on the left side of the field and with a good wall before him, he went the distance to score. Dixon led at halftime 13-12.

Dixon threatened late in the third period when a good punt by Gary Reeder and a clipping penalty against Ottawa put the Pirates back on their own one. After a first down and then a loss, the hard fought and close battle that saw both teams scoring in the second period for a 6-6 halftime tie. DeKalb scored the winning touchdown in the third period.

Elsewhere in the conference, Dixon moved into a second place tie with Sterling by beating Ottawa, 19-12, in the Northeast, while Mendota opened its title defense with a 35-13 win over Geneseo in the Southwest. Princeton won an 18-12 decision from Hall in a cross-over game.

Jim Pevonka was the big gun for DeKalb as the Warriors bottled up the running attack of Ken Miller. Pevonka carried the ball during most of the first period drive that ended when Dick Anderson smacked over left tackle from the two with 40 seconds gone in the second quarter. A 24 yard romp by Pevonka that carried to the Sterling 15 featured the attack.

Mendoza Scores
After DeKalb had punted later in the period to the Sterling five, Jim Austin raced 54 yards to the DeKalb 41 on first down. Two first downs later, the Warriors were on the six and on second down, Art Mendoza scored from the four with 10 seconds left in the half.

Midway through the third period, DeKalb returned a punt to the Sterling 49 and in six plays, Pevonka went over from the six. Featuring that drive was a 21 yard run by Miller and a 13 yard run by John Dertinger.

In the preliminary game, Sterling snapped a 23 game DeKalb frosh-soph winning streak with a 12-7 victory over the Barblots.

Statue of Liberty
Rochelle opened the scoring in the first period as Denny Mutton raked up the first score of the game and Caster booted the extra point.

But in the second quarter, Louie Wolter scored for Rock Falls and kicked the extra point to tie the count at 7-7 at halftime.

Jim Derrickson moved Rock Falls ahead in the third period, 13-7, but five straight completed passes, the last to Ron Orman in the end zone, knotted the count again.

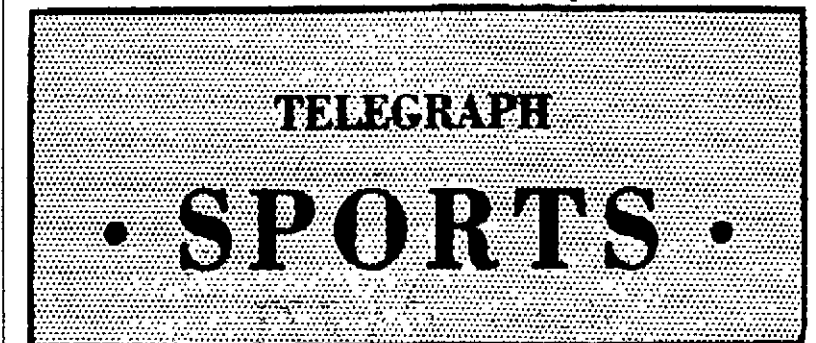

In the final period, however, Rock Falls scored on a quarterback sneak by Leroy Boseneier and a 47 yard run by Derrickson on the old Statue of Liberty play.

Forreston Wins In Final Second
LEAF RIVER (Special) — Rich DeVries stepped across the goal line with one second remaining in the game to give Forreston a 33-20 victory over Leaf River in a ding-dong game that saw Leaf River rally twice in the final period to take the lead, only to lose.

Aces Make Home Tigers End Two Debut a Success Tilt Loss String

ASHTON — (Special) — Ashton grid-fans got their first home look at their unbeaten Aces Friday night and liked what they saw as the team rolled up a 31-6 victory over Pecatonica.

The victory keeps the Aces in a first place tie for Route 72 conference honors with Stillman Valley. Both have 4-0 records.

Ron Angeles got the Aces off on the right foot as he scored from the two yard line on a plunge in the first period.

Neither team scored in the second period as the sloppy conditions made going tough. But in the third period, the Aces got rolling in high gear as Angeles hauled in a pass from Larry Fisher thrown from the Ashton 35 to the Pec 12. After a penalty, Larry Henert went over from the 19 on an end run. Henert later scored on a five-yard plunge.

Pec racked up its only score in the final period when Dwayne Cole passed to Bill Flynn for 20 yards. But Henert equalized this by intercepting a pass and racing 50 yards to score.

Later in the period, Gene Kersten passed three yards to cousin Ray Kersten for the touchdown and Bill Chessman closed the scoring by running for the extra point. Cole of Pecatonica suffered a broken nose in the contest.

Walnut Loses 20-6 Contest

TOULON — (Special) — The Walnut Blue Raiders suffered through their third straight South Blackhawk conference loss and their fourth setback of the season Friday night as they dropped a 20-6 decision to Toulon.

After a scoreless first period, Toulon put the game on ice with a pair of touchdowns in the second quarter as Morris and Newman tallied.

Walnut came back with a touchdown in the third period when Ed O'Bryan pitched to Doug Etheridge for 20 yards.

Cuthill scored the final Toulon touchdown in the third period. Walnut trailed in the statistics department, racking up 77 yards rushing to 117 for Toulon, 59 yards passing to 87 and five first downs to 14.

Score Three Times in First Period

STERLING — (Special) —

The Newman Comets, scoring on the opening kickoff when Doug McGinn romped 80 yards to pay dirt, caught the Amboy Clippers off balance in the first quarter and rolled up a 33-20 Illowa conference victory here Friday night.

Newman racked up two touchdowns in the first period to take a 19-0 lead from which the Clippers could never recover although they more than played the Comets on even terms in the final three periods.

McGinn, who scored four of the Newman touchdowns, scored the second six points for Newman when he went 45 yards up the middle midway through the first period. Tom Anderson raked up the third Newman TD of the period on a drive through the middle.

Amboy fans raised hopes faintly once in the period when Jim Donoho galloped 45 yards to the Newman 30.

The Clippers got the attack rolling in the second period when Donoho climaxed a drive with a short plunge to score.

Doug McGinn equalized that, however, and evened matters in the third period after Bob Chohan had tallied for the Clippers.

John Anderson completed the Amboy scoring with a two yard plunge in the final period. Jim Egan kicked both extra points for Amboy.

The Clippers gained 163 yards rushing and completed two of five passes.

Notre Dame Beats Miami

Notre Dame's particular penchant for producing outstanding quarterbacks still is in operation. This time it's Paul Hornung, who Friday night stamped himself as an apt replacement for the graduated All-American, Ralph Guglielmi, by directing the Fighting Irish to their third straight victory with a 14-0 victory over Miami of Florida.

A crowd of 75,685—the largest ever in the Orange Bowl—saw Hornung take the Irish to the air for the first time this season while Coach Terry Brennan's stout line retained their unscored upon record.

Hornung convinced the Hurricanes, who were stung by their own fumbles, with a pair of touchdown passes. An 11-yard flip to Gene Kapish put the Irish in the lead in the first minute of the second quarter. Then Hornung wrapped it up with a 32-yard toss to Aubrey Lewis in the third period.

It was the 11th straight victory for Brennan in his second season, at the Notre Dame helm, and cracked Miami's 10-game home field winning streak.

In other top games Friday night, once-beaten UCLA, ranked No. 7 behind the fifth place Irish in the week's Associated Press poll, bolstered its bid for another Pacific Coast conference title by beating Oregon State 38-0.

Southern Methodist won its first of the season while handing Missouri its fourth straight defeat 13-6; Houston beat Detroit in a Missouri Valley Conference contest 7-0 on a third period quarterback sneak by Jim Dickey.

Ottawa Frosh-Soph Topple Duke Underclassmen, 32-0

By FRED TOOLE

The Ottawa frosh-soph scored once in the opening period and twice in both the third and fourth quarters to defeat Dixon, 32-0.

The game was marked by a steady drizzle which started in the second period and made the going a little slippery. However, Ottawa completed several timely passes and picked up good yardage despite the conditions.

Dixon received the opening kick but could get nowhere and was forced to punt. The young Pirates took over on their own 20 and in the space of four plays were on the Dixon 20. Rench carried the ball twice and Ottawa was ahead to stay. The local attack was weakened early in the game when Chuck Brainerd was ejected from the game for roughing the ball carrier.

In the second quarter, a fifteen-yard penalty and two runs by Rench, the latter for fifteen yards, gave the visitors another score. Later in the same period, Clemmens took a quick-kick on his own 20 and went 30 yards for a TD.

WHAT'S THE SCORE
By Tom Jollow

"WE NEEDED THAT ONE: boy, we sure did." Coach Don Barnhart beamed happily after his Dixon Dukes had won their first conference game in two years last night. "And we'll be up for DeKalb, now," the Dixon mentor added as he accepted congratulations from well-wishers.

Incidentally, this was the first victory for the home folks since the next to last game of the 1953 season when the Dukes dumped Rock Falls. The Dukes had since lost five straight home games.

DIXON FANS WERE MUTTERING long and loud at intermission time at the call for a pass by Dixon with 30 seconds left to play in the first half. The ball was intercepted and Ottawa subsequently scored on the first play from scrimmage. Barnhart sheepishly accepted the blame for calling the play and was thankful that the Dukes had held on during the second half to take the edge off. "It would have been something, though, if it had worked," Barney mused.

THE LOCAL QUARTERBACKS also were buzzing over the play of Jim Schroeder who splashed big when he got into the game in the last 1:30 minutes. Dixon kicked off after scoring its third touchdown of the night and Ottawa's Fred Ieuter found some good blocking as he powered up the middle. Then out of nowhere came Schroeder's hand and Ieuter had the props pulled out from under him.

On the first play from scrimmage, Ieuter took a screen pass from Jack Meckenstock and was almost in the clear when Schroeder, running hard, caught up with Ieuter and almost drove him into the ground with a leaping tackle.

GARY REEDER, whose punting probably was his best as a Duke, proved he can't be fooled all of the time. After Ottawa had twice worked that screen pass successfully, on the final play of the game, the Pirates tried it again. But Reeder was ready and he knifed through to spill the plot for a four yard loss.

DIXON DESERVES THE ORCHIDS for good team play but some individuals noted for fine play in particular were Howie Mighell who was a bull on offense and a bear on defense. Ken Mueller who pulled down a pass in a duel with an Ottawa defender and then stepped along the sidelines to wind up a 52 yard play. Max Akerman who besides directing the club well from quarterback, made a spectacular catch of a pass from Bob Hamill in the midst of three defenders as the ball bounced from his grasp once and then settled into his arms.

Orchids also to Dick Hess and Bud Melvin who braced the Dixon line on defense, and to Bud Rosbrook, Burl Stonecipher, Dave Thomas, Bob Hill, and Les Kubecka, the other unsung heroes of the line who made the holes for the backs. Also to Larry Brown who turned in a fine job at end, center and as a tough linebacker.

Mt. Morris, Oregon, Polo Win in Blackhawk Tests

Poloans Win, 33-0, Mounders Defeat Mt. Carroll, 18-12

POLO — (Special) — A muddy field proved little deterrent to the Polo Marcos who raced to their second straight Blackhawk conference win with a 33-0 decision over Milledgeville.

The Marcos ground out 381 yards to 40 for the Millies and made 14 first downs to 4 for the visitors.

MT. MORRIS — (Special) — With an 18-12 score that belies the tenor of the game, the Mt. Morris Mounders rolled up victory number two in Blackhawk conference play here Friday night.

Though the Mt. Carroll eleven scored twice, they gained just eight yards rushing to 289 for Mt. Morris and completed only one of eight passes for 16 yards.

Mt. Morris errors set up both Mt. Carroll scores that sent the game into the final period knotted at 12-12.

In the first period, after Dave Bechtold of Mt. Morris had climaxed a 41 yard drive with a six yard plunge to score, Jim McDearmon of Mt. Carroll went over from the one. The score was set up when the Mounders fumbled a punt.

Neither team scored in the second period but in the third, Bechtold went over from the two on a drive from the M-37 to boost Mt. Morris back in the lead. But later in the period, Mike Williams, a Mt. Carroll guard, recovered a Mounders bad pass from center to score.

Mt. Morris finally settled the game in the last period when Bill Allenfort went 35 yards to score after Dave Saunders had picked up 57 yards.

Mt. Morris made 18 first downs to three for Mt. Carroll.

Score by quarters:
Mt. Morris 6 0 6 6 18
Mt. Carroll 6 0 6 0 12

Hawks Gain 21-0 Win Over Lanark

OREGON — (Special) — Although suffering from a let down after last week's heartbreaking loss to Polo, the Oregon Hawks still had enough to gain a 21-0 decision over Lanark in a Blackhawk conference game here Friday night.

The Hawks racked up touchdowns in each of the first three quarters to point up a pretty well oiled offensive, but on three occasions had to stiffen a ragged defense to keep the Beavers from scoring on first and goal inside the Hawk five.

Oregon opened the scoring when Jack Giotfelly climaxed a 60 yard march by sneaking over from the two after the opening kickoff. A 20 yard end run by Dick Haas was the big play in the drive. Ray Robbins ran for the extra point.

In the second quarter, Giotfelly hit Joe Hodges on a 27 yard pass play and Robbins again ran for the extra point.

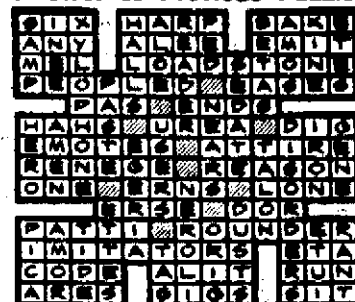

In the third period, Robbins went 20 yards to score after a 35 yard pass from Giotfelly to Hodges had set it up. Haas ran the extra point.

Oregon played without its captain, Jake Kump, guard and linebacker, who suffered a sprained ankle last week. But Spencer Price, making his first start of the year after being kept out of action by injury, showed up well.

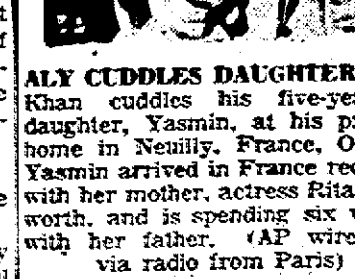

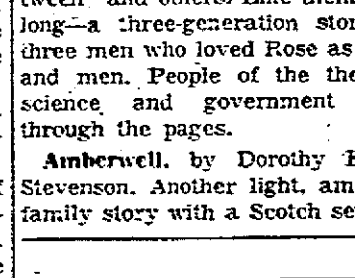

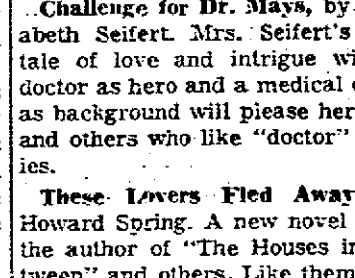

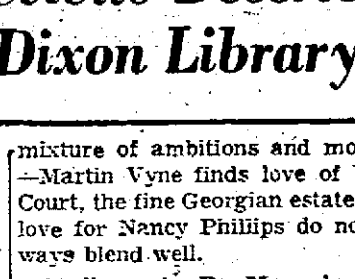

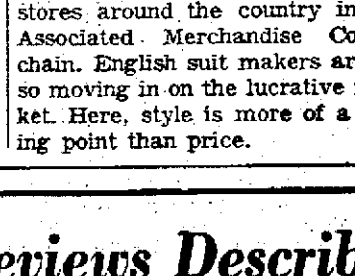

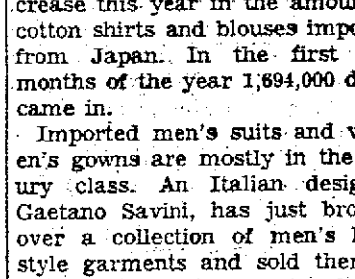

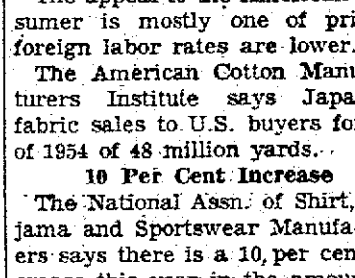

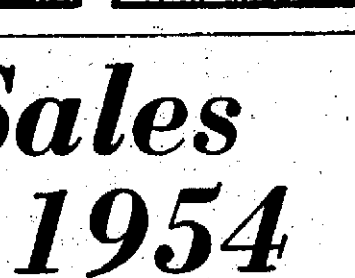

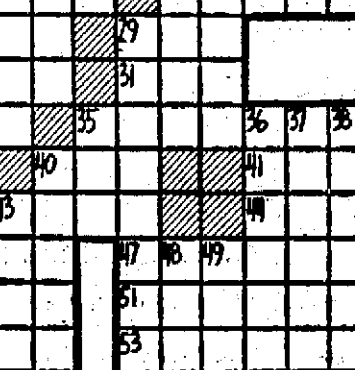

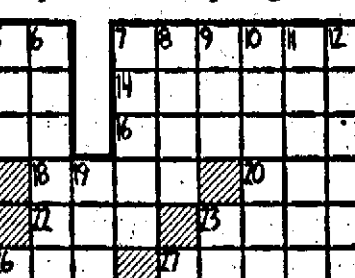

Score by quarters:
Oregon 7 0 0 0 21
Lanark 0 0 0 0 0

October 7, 1955

To The Publishers,
Dixon Evening Telegraph,
Dixon, Illinois.

Dear Sirs:

As you know, on Saturday, October 1, The Dixon Evening Telegraph carried eight full pages of advertising from our store on our Celebration Sale.

It has come to my attention that newspapers through the nation are this week celebrating National Newspaper Week and it seems appropriate for me to take this opportunity to express my appreciation to The Dixon Evening Telegraph for what it has meant to me and my business.

A little over four years ago I became interested in TV repairing and later in appliance retailing. It was my firm conviction at that time that a fast turn-over of merchandise at a low margin of profit coupled with an efficient service department, would form the foundation of a business which could not only prove profitable to myself, but would also find a place in this community.

With this business principle in mind, I am happy to say that I have been able to come a long way in such a short time.

My customers come not only from Dixon, but from a wide area—extending from Sterling and Rock Falls on the west to Rochelle and Paw Paw on the east, and from as far north as Forreston and Byron to the south limits of Mendota and Ohio.

I am fully aware that The Dixon Evening Telegraph covers this area thoroughly with their 9,000 circulation each day and for that reason I have been a consistent user of advertising space in your newspaper and I am happy to point out to you that my confidence in your media has been completely justified.

I want to assure you that the future plans of the Fazzi TV and Appliance Store include advertising in your newspaper, as I sincerely feel that it is very capable of carrying advertising messages into the homes where I want them to go.

So, as a climax to National Newspaper Week, I would like to thank you at The Dixon Evening Telegraph for your courtesies and service and it is my hope that our continued cooperation will bring about increasing success to both of us.

Yours very truly,

E. L. (Babe) Fazzi
E. L. (BABE) FAZZI

THANK YOU, MR. FAZZI

Store Sales Above 1954 Foreign Competition Is Appearing in Some Areas

By SAM DAWSON
NEW YORK (AP)—Merchants are enjoying a very pleasant autumn. Store sales ride high above the year ago level. Chains and mail order houses report booming business in September.

But the textile and garment industries—which should be happy about this—have found something else to worry about.

The free-spending American consumer appears very tempting to manufacturers and designers overseas. And they are moving in fast.

Invasion U.S. Market

Italian, French and English garment makers are invading the American market with clothing for men as well as women. A large New York department store has one section filled with imported clothes for children—everything from Scottish kilts to Japanese kimonos. German, Belgian, Italian, French, English garments for boys and girls have flooded in during recent weeks.

Merchants find American parents ready to shell out considerable cash for dressing up their children.

The appeal to the American consumer is mostly one of price—foreign labor rates are lower.

The American Cotton Manufacturers Institute says Japanese fabric sales to U.S. buyers for all of 1954 of 48 million yards.

10 Per Cent Increase

The National Assn. of Shirt, Pajama and Sportswear Manufacturers says there is a 10 per cent increase this year in the amount of cotton shirts and blouses imported from Japan. In the first nine months of the year 1,694,000 dozen came in.

Imported men's suits and women's gowns are mostly in the luxury class. An Italian designer, Gaetano Savini, has just brought over a collection of men's high-style garments and sold them to stores around the country in the Associated Merchandise Corp.'s chain. English suit makers are also moving in on the lucrative market. Here, style is more of a selling point than price.

One-Minute Reviews Describe New Books at Dixon Library

General Books

Tropical Fish As Pets, by Herbert R. Axelrod. A tiny book about these popular and amusing little pets.

My Life with the Big Cats, by Alfred Court. Animal acts in a circus are always popular with the audience. How is it done? Is bravery or caution the best quality in a trainer? Alfred Court has trained and exhibited his cats in the circus for many years. Also he has trained others to train the animals.

Dennis the Menace Rides Again, by Henry King Ketcham. More cartoons about the familiar little brat.

Hazel Rides Again, by Ted Key. "A new selection of Hazel cartoons."

Marketing, 1954 Yearbook of American Agriculture. These annual volumes from the U.S.D.A. are collections of articles on the various phases of the subject, and prove very useful to anyone interested and this is a year for interest in marketing farm products.

Inside Africa, by John Gunther. The success of Mr. Gunther's other books "inside" here and there have caused those readers aware of the problems currently boiling in Africa to look forward to this new one. He does not disappoint; the book is clear, vital reading on all the perplexing issues.

The Answer Is God, by Elise Miller Davis. "The inspiring story of Dale Evans and Roy Rogers."

My Life for Mr. Sheep, by Alfred L. Duggan. Exciting as any of his excellent historical novels is this biography of Thomas a Becket—a witty, worldly man as Chancellor of England for Henry II, but resolute and spiritual defender of the Church as Archbishop of Canterbury. He was murdered before the altar in the Cathedral. At Henry's request?

Fiction

Cast a Long Shadow, by Wayne D. Overholser. A Western.

The Vines of Vyne Court, by Humphrey Wakington. Delightful mixture of ambitions and motives—Martin Vyne finds love of Vyne Court, the fine Georgian estate, and love for Nancy Phillips do not always blend well.

Challenge for Dr. Mays, by Elizabeth Seifert. Mrs. Seifert's new tale of love and intrigue with a doctor as hero and a medical clinic as background will please her fans and others who like "doctor" stories.

These Lovers Fled Away, by Howard Spring. A new novel from the author of "The Houses in Between" and others. Like them it is long—a three-generation story of three men who loved Rose as boys and men. People of the theater, science, and government flow through the pages.

Amberwell, by Dorothy Emily Stevenson. Another light, amusing family story with a Scotch setting.

ALY CUDDLES DAUGHTER—Aly Khan cuddles his five-year-old daughter, Yasmin, at his private home in Neuilly, France, Oct. 6. Yasmin arrived in France recently with her mother, actress Rita Hayworth, and is spending six weeks with her father. (AP wirephoto via radio from Paris)

Fraud in Head

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—During the opening of a new motel, a broom slipped from the hand of one of the water show performers. It struck a spectator on the head. "Fall down, fall down," another spectator whispered. "You can collect insurance on this." The "victim" only gave the tipster a dirty look. He happened to be Sammy Green, who owned the place.

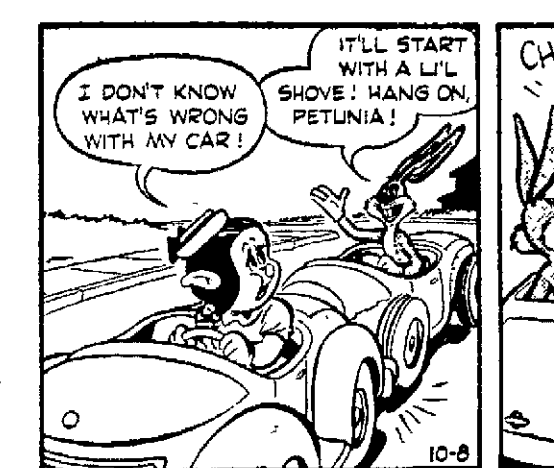

The safest way to knock a chip off someone's shoulder is with a pot on the back.

Speaks to Wisconsin Democrats On Other Possible 1956 Issues

"This is not only unfair to the farmer, it is unhealthy for all of us," the 1952 Democratic presidential candidate said Friday night.

"For when things go bad for the farmer it hurts a lot of other people. . . . It is unfair and dangerous that farmers, alone among the great economic groups in our country, are not sharing in the current prosperity."

Terming the farm problem a "desperately difficult one," Stevenson said the GOP policy of sliding or flexible supports "is not working."

"Made More Difficult"

"It has been made more difficult by the neglect, the indifference, the postponement and the slogan-making of these past years. Let us not promise what we cannot perform. Farmers will trust the Democratic party next time but they will not trust it to perform miracles."

Stevenson, who devoted the major part of his speech to the Wisconsin Democratic party convention on the farm problem, also touched on the subjects of conservation, taxes, civil liberties and international relations.

Stevenson in his speech and at a news conference did not disclose whether he would seek the 1956 Democratic presidential nomination.

Speaking on the tax issue, the former Illinois governor cautioned against precipitate tax reduction, saying "tax reduction at the price of safety is not economy."

"I say let our opponents cry out for tax reduction at any price," Stevenson said. "But we are the party of compassion and the party of responsibility. We must at least inquire whether at this juncture there are things we want more than tax reduction. . . . A responsible political party has greater responsibilities than winning votes at any price."

On Civil Liberties

On civil liberties, Stevenson asserted that "from the first wild utterances of a man from Wisconsin in 1950 there has been mounting pressure on Americans' civil liberties—the loyalty of servants of American government has suffered, unparalleled attacks. Democrats generally have been slandered in a manner unprecedented in our political history."

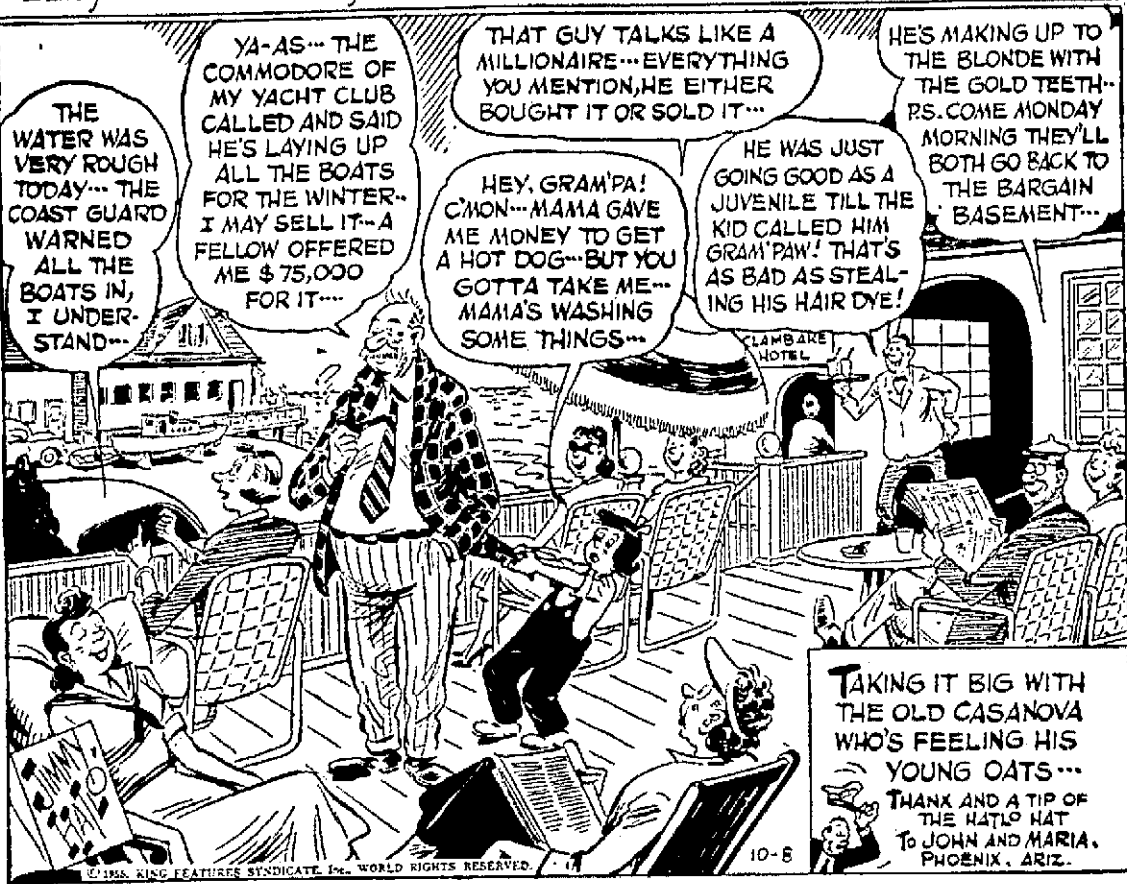

"The Republican strategists who resorted to such measures must be made to realize, if they are still inclined to these extremes, that what they are considering is the poisoning of democracy. . . ."

Speaking on international relations, Stevenson said:

"It must be recognized that the essence is not the execution of the

They'll Do It Every Time

By Jimmy Harlo

prevailing foreign policies of the nation are those of most of the Democratic party and at least one branch of the Republican party. . . .

"It is important that the world know that the spirit expressed at Geneva represented much more than President Eisenhower's own beliefs. What he did—and did very well—was to restore confidence in America's peaceful, cooperative purpose, a confidence which had been jeopardized too often by the bellicose words and gestures of some administration spokesmen. Once again the world must know what fills the hearts of the American people—the spirit of peace, the full realization that 'above all nations is humanity.'"

The present farm policy, Stevenson said, "instead of eliminating surpluses, as advertised, is eliminating farmers, not as advertised. . . . Our past problems are still with us, just as we Democrats foresaw."

"Export subsidies, import quotas still sharply conflict with our declarations about freer world trade. There is still indefensible discrimination between different commodities. . . . And the burdensome surpluses are still burdening us. As a result the problem of controls, effective control still remains."

Stevenson said he will await the results of a nationwide poll before making any statement on running again.

He said the poll presently is under way to determine public interest in his possible candidacy and he would "have nothing to say" until it was completed.

Repeal Argentine Tax on Churches

BUENOS AIRES (U. P.)—President Eduardo Lonardi signed a decree Friday night reinstating a law granting church properties of all denominations freedom from taxation.

The law had been repealed by a Peronista-dominated congress in May, at the height of the feud between President Juan D. Peron and the Roman Catholic Church.

Supermarket Buy a Bargain

PLAINVIEW, N. Y. (U. P.)—Mrs. Helen Tomko bought two heads of cabbage at a supermarket and got a big gift temporarily. She had barely reached her car Friday before three store employees came racing after her to retrieve a small package mistakenly dropped in her grocery bag. The package contained $5,000 in store receipts which a messenger was supposed to take to a bank.

The blossom of the saguaro, or giant cactus, became official flower of Arizona in 1901, when Arizona was still a territory.

Oklahoma Governor A Skeptic

OKLAHOMA CITY (U. P.)—The governor of Oklahoma isn't very happy over a press agent's idea to have him ride a white horse along Broadway in New York City next Tuesday.

Gov. Raymond Gary is to appear in a parade in conjunction with the world premier of the film, "Oklahoma!" "I'll talk to them about riding a horse when I get there," the governor said Friday. "I sure want to see the horse first."

No Bear for Davys

SARASOTA, Fla. (U. P.)—The Davy Crockett cruise has made it rough on birds, the Sarasota Bird Club says. Modern Davys, not having many chances to shoot a bear, are drawing a bead on them.

The bird club is trying to educate parents to supervise their youngsters' activities with BB guns and small rifles, and to limit the shooting to targets.

Location Fixed

NACOGDOCHES, Tex. (U. P.)—Texas towns take their rivalry seriously. A Nacogdoches man made a long distance call to nearby Lufkin.

"That'll be $4.50, plus tax," said the operator.

"Why, I could call hell for that much," said the man.

"Mister," replied the operator, "all you have to do to do that from where you are is make a local call."
